The Noumenon's New Clothes<sup>1</sup>

(Part æ)

Peter Hoffendale

Independent Researcher

A spectre is haunting continental philosophy: the spectre of Object-Oriented Ontology (OOO). All these disciplines and groupings that have traditionally affiliated themselves with continental theory in the anglophone world are poised to greet its manifestation: aesthetic theory and artistic practice political philosophy and heterodox geography

Franco-Gothic post-post-structuralists and Germanist neo-romantics. Who among them has not heard the siren song of OOO's litanies of inhuman objects (energies of stock markets and sock cubes

»marks and clerks etc.)?

<sup>1</sup> This paper has been a long time in development. It was initiated at the suggestion of Graham Harman after previous attempts at informal engagement with his ideas (which can be found in the commentary section of my blog here: <http://deontologistics.wordpress.com/commentary/>) became the extensive forum for him to easily respond to. In its long gestation it has benefited immeasurably from my discussions with Ray Brassier

Damian Shea

Richard

MacKay

Daniel Acilotto

Justin McWherter

Nick Smicek and Jon Cogburn

some of whom were gracious enough to provide comments on early drafts of this material that has come to make up this paper. It has also benefited from the comments of numerous more or less anonymous individuals who have read and responded to the informal engagements already mentioned.

Finally

I owe an immense debt to Mario Gironi without whose incredible patience and careful encouragement this piece never would have appeared.

Peter Wolfe's The Noumenon's New Clothes

is

Who among them has not begun to shrug off the oppressive anthropocentric legacy of Post-Kantian philosophy

railing against the tyrannical correlationists of the continental philosophy

the dour technicians of the analytic mainstream and even the scientific legacy of its Neo-Kantian heirs?

I would plead forgiveness for my bombast but there is a certain grandeur to the pronouncements regarding the emergence of OOO as a philosophical movement that demands parody and I hope this can be taken in good spirit as a sort of gesture to clear the air. I have every intention of making these pronouncements as seriously as possible and I hope even more seriously than they are intended. Graham Harman the erstwhile reader of this most vocal faction of what was

OOO?

Richard

Ylled Speculative Realism (JR)

often expressed a preference for what he calls hyperbolic readings of philosophies.<sup>2</sup> The idea here is to maintain the relevant philosophy in a position of high-unassailable strength as to tease out what would be missing from a world in which it had become dominant. To imagine a given philosophical tendency actually winning the discursive battles in which it is engaged is to treat it with the utmost seriousness. It is to treat it as a genuine contender for truth

@hoae caĩms to truth
